WORKSHOP DETAILS:

The workshop series continues in Canton, Ohio.

Robb Hankins, President and CEO with ArtsinStark will present a series of topics which include:

- "Starting A Public Art Process on a Shoe String"
- "Taking Old, Dead Buildings and Transforming Them into Artist Studios"
- "How to Create An Arts & Entertainment Strategy for Your Neighborhood or Downtown"
- "Using Live Music as a Revitalization Tool"

Julie Sparks, Director of Special Projects with J.R. Coleman Outreach Services, Inc., a local CDC in Northeast Canton will discuss the implementation of a seed grant from ArtsinStark to develop a Strategic Public Art Plan for the area known as the Mahoning Road Economic Development Project. The plan will be implemented through a collaboration that includes residents, stakeholders, and representatives from local industry and the arts community. The public art plan will include a tribute to the industrial heritage that etched the streets, homes, and neighborhoods of northeast Canton, through Public Industrial Art.

About First Friday:

Be sure to make plans to stay after the workshop for Canton's First Friday. Workshop attendees are invited to a First Friday pre-party. For nearly three years, downtown Canton has been celebrating its rebirth with First Friday's each month. First Fridays is a celebration of the arts, food and people of Canton. Each First Friday of the month, the streets are lined with musicians, food, families, and friends as the downtown comes alive. Great bars, clubs, restaurants, street vendors, and camaraderie await you! For info on Canton's First Friday visit <http://cantonfirstfriday.com>.
